

ENCOURAGING ON GRAZING LANDS

This the Charge Against Forestry Department by Southern Sheep and Cattlemen.

GRAFT ON MAMMOTH SCALE IS HINTED AT

Stockmen to Seek Relief in Petition to Bureau of Forestry.

That 90 per cent of the forest reserves in southern Utah do not contain any timber growth more extensive than sagebrush and an occasional cottonwood tree was the declaration made Monday afternoon by C. B. Stewart, secretary of the Utah State Woolgrowers' association, and emphasized by A. A. Callister, secretary of the State Board of Sheep Commissioners, both of whom returned from an extended trip through southern Utah Monday morning. Messrs. Stewart and Callister were about Salt Lake for a week and visited Garfield, Kane and Washington counties. Cattle and sheepmen who talked with Messrs. Stewart and Callister stated without hesitation that unless steps are taken to permit a more equitable system of grazing in southern Utah on the government forest reserves the men who have lived in the southern counties of this state for years will be forced to leave the country because the cattle and sheep industry will be ruined.

Graft Hinted At. Graft on a mammoth scale was also hinted at by many of the cattle and sheepmen and it was claimed by many residents of the Buckskin mountain country that one company had been given practical control of the government reserve grazing land in that district. The name of the company alleged to have been favored was not given out, but it probably will be made public in an investigation that is to be asked for by cattle and sheepmen of Utah.

Plans have been completed for the forwarding of a petition to congress and also the registration of a complaint with the bureau of forestry of the department of the interior. Action will be taken as soon as possible.

According to Messrs. Stewart and Callister, residents of Kane, Garfield and Washington counties are alarmed and aroused by the conditions prevailing at present. It is alleged that while the average cattleman in the southern counties mentioned above is only permitted to have grazing land on the reserves for from 100 to 300 acres, the few composed of men who are not residents of Utah, has a domain for 3000 head of cattle. This tract is now being fenced, it is said, and the government is standing part of the expense. It is further alleged that instead of running 3000 cattle on this particular range, the company in question is feeding almost 15,000 head.

Sagebrush Land Usurped.

One of the principal complaints registered by the cattle and sheepmen in the south is that the government, instead of confining its reserves to timbered land, has included thousands of acres of sagebrush territory. Messrs. Stewart and Callister stated that they traveled for miles over government reserves without seeing a tree save an occasional cottonwood or scrub cedar. This is said to be valuable range ground and the stockmen feel that it is an imposition for the government to tie it up under the guise of a forest reserve.

It was also asserted that there is an Indian reservation at Moencopie, twelve by eighteen miles in extent, that is excellent range ground and is now in the hands of sixty whites.

The reserves complained about chiefly are the Dixie, Mt. Trumbull and Kiabab tracts. The latter takes in the Buckskin mountain district and is said to be one of the best ranges in the southern part of the state. It is alleged that the only timber of any value is on top of the mountain and this growth is confined to a comparatively small area.

Two United States senators are said to have visited the different reserves and should be acquainted with the conditions.

Sheep Reduced.

As a result of the inroad upon the ranges made by the forestry bureau the number of sheep grazing in the Kiabab district has been reduced, it is said, from 140,000 to about 5000 head.

The cattle and sheepmen have arranged to petition the forestry bureau and intend to take the matter up with the view of having Utah's representatives in congress take some action. It is proposed either to cut down the size of the reserves in the southern counties or else arrange for some other way to obtain better grazing grounds.

Messrs. Stewart and Callister stated upon their return that the situation in southern Utah is approaching a crisis and that many of the older residents of that section are threatened with ruin, as a dry spell would cost them their flocks and herds. The watering places are far apart and the cattle are suffering as a result of the long journeys.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN GRADUATES GETTING BUSY

Graduates of the University of Michigan met at the Commercial club Monday evening and took preliminary steps towards forming a Salt Lake Alumni association. Another meeting will be held at the club room on Tuesday night. The party which will be in Salt Lake April 11 will include Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, dean of the medical department of the university; Dean Reed of the literary department; Dean M. E. Cooley of the engineering department; and W. E. Shaw, general secretary of the Michigan Alumni association.

ORPHEUM INCREASES ITS CAPITAL STOCK

Special Meeting of Stockholders Held on Monday Orders Increase to $500,000.

THIS IS JUST TEN TIMES WHAT PRESENT CAPITAL IS

Directors Empowered to Levy Assessment, if Deemed Necessary, of 100 Per Cent.

Stockholders of the Orpheum Theater company on Monday at a special meeting held in the office of the manager of the theater, decided to increase the capital stock of the company from $50,000 to $500,000. The purpose of the increase is to purchase a site and erect a new theater for the circuit here. Now that the construction of the new theater, which is to be taken by the William Morris company, is being pushed toward completion and which it is understood will be ready for opening this fall in time for the opening of the season of 1910-11, the Orpheum people feel the need of a larger theater.

The Morris company is the strongest competitor in the vaudeville world that the Orpheum company has to meet since the move toward a new theater. Some time since it was made public that a site for a new Orpheum theater on State street near the new Semiah hotel had been secured, but it now appears that this was an erroneous statement. Overtures have been made, it is also stated, for a site on East First South street, but these overtures have not yet come to naught. Other sites are being looked over. It may be that the new theater may be built below Third South on State street, as efforts toward that end have already been made.

Empowered to Levy Assessment.

In addition to voting to increase the capital stock to half a million dollars, the directors were also empowered to levy an assessment of 100 per cent upon the present stockholders if this is deemed necessary, which would make the original stock stand at $100,000. If this should be done as it is stated that it will be, the company will have a new assessment to be used to erect a new theater upon leased ground rather than upon an outright purchase of a site. This plan is favored by several of the majority stockholders.

Should this be done the capital stock, which is to be increased as said to $500,000, would in all probability be retained as treasury stock to be issued whenever the directors might determine. But unless a site for a new theater is purchased outright the issue will remain in the treasury.

Great Money Maker.

It is understood that the Orpheum theater here is now and has been for some time past earning every year ten per cent upon a valuation of $750,000, or $75,000 per annum, and it may be that the determination to increase the capital stock is for the purpose of watered stock as to have the earning capacity apparently lessened by declaring a smaller dividend quarterly, but which will amount to the same thing in view of the watered stock.

It is also intimated that the proposed assessment of 100 per cent on the original capital stock is to be levied on smaller stockholders and thus corral all the stock into the hands of two or three people who now control the majority of the stock.

DENIES ANY CONNECTION WITH "WILD WEST" SHOW

In an answer filed in the district court Monday Dr. Ned W. Hewett denies that he had any connection with the "Wild West" show given during the G. A. R. encampment or that he is responsible in any way for the check of $500 cashed by Ed McConnell, one of the riders of the show, which was obtained from J. C. Leary by alleged fraud.

The National Bank of the Republic filed the action against J. C. Leary, John Y. Rich, Ned W. Hewett and Leary, to recover the amount of the check which was cashed by the bank and payment refused when it was presented to the Utah National bank, on which it was drawn.

NEW COMPANY TO WORK NOTED MINE

Sevier Consolidated and Miller Properties Taken Over by Strong Capital.

EARNST EFFORT TO BEGIN IN SUMMER

Means Conversion of Failure Into What Experts Term Great Producer.

In organizing a company to be known as the Sevier-Miller Coalition Mines of Salt Lake City, prominent local capitalists have undertaken a task which bids fair to redound to their financial betterment and at the same time remove from the state what has been termed one of its greatest mining failures. This is nothing more or less than the complete rejuvenation of the famous Sevier Consolidated properties of the Gold Mountain district of Utah, located near Kimberley and the establishing of it as one of the big gold-producing propositions of this section of the country. The new company has a capitalization of $2,000,000, divided into 2,000,000 shares, par value $1 each. Of this capitalization, 400,000 shares are preferred and 1,600,000 shares common stock. The following are the officials: F. T. Tilton, president; B. F. Bauer, vice president; W. S. McCormick, treasurer; M. H. Sowles, secretary; J. H. Strain, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. The directors are F. T. Tilton, B. F. Bauer, M. H. Sowles, H. A. Schelkhardt and Judge J. E. Dev.

Property of Company.

The properties of the company consist of twenty-five patented and thirty unpatented claims, being the possessions of the former Sevier and the Miller mines. The properties are thoroughly equipped for heavy production, and a mill with a capacity of 100 tons of ore daily for the ground, and a mill in operation for a few months, then closed down, and several engineers who have examined the proposition have agreed that it was poor management, and more than lack of merit which gave the old organization the reputation of being a failure. The Sevier Consolidated over a year ago went into the hands of a receiver, and the Salt Lake Hardware company and associate interests secured the properties at receiver's sale. The mines were examined, among others, by W. C. Marshall, a prominent engineer formerly of Salt Lake City, and his verdict was that with funds for development purposes, and for placing the mill in shape for operation, the mines would become one of the great gold producers of the west. The new company has the funds needed to complete the mill and to develop the mines, and early in the summer the company will be in shape to resume mill operations on a logical basis.

Renewal of Mining.

The revival of mining in these properties will operate to bring back to activity a wide area in that immediate neighborhood, as there are numerous meritorious groups of claims worthy of the deep development work which has been impossible for several years past, owing to the difficulty of interesting capital where the work was so unprofitable. Economically, the character of the interests being the Sevier-Miller is a guarantee that future mining and milling will be done in a proper and approved manner, and with a result, judging from expert reports, that will be of gratifying import to the mining industry of Utah.

IDAHO LANDS ARE CAUSE OF SURPRISE

Utah Land Board Visits Twin Falls and Reports Enjoyable Trip.

Enthusiastic over the growth of Idaho's irrigated and reclaimed lands, the members of the Utah state land board returned to the city. They left for the Gen state Friday evening and carefully examined the famous Twin Falls country, which is the most important example of a reclaimed desert to be found in the entire west. The growth of the city itself was a marvel of the land department, and to think of hotels, electric lights, all modern conveniences, and a commercial club in the center of a tract that was a scrubby land seven years ago, opened their eyes, as has been the case with all visitors to that region.

The Utah visitors express themselves as charmed with the hospitality of the people of that region, who enabled them to see the entire country and gave them a very delightful time.

RUSSELL MOURNS LOSS OF RED IRISH SETTER

Deputy Sheriff Claude Y. Russell is mourning the death by poison of his high-bred Red Irish setter. The dog was 9 years old and Mr. Russell had owned him since he was a puppy. Mr. Russell went home about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and found the unfortunate animal dying from strychnine poisoning. He did everything in his power to save the dog, but it died some hours later.

Mr. Russell lives at 722 East Fifth South and has been the victim of many cases of dog poisoning in the neighborhood and the residents are endeavoring to find the miscreant. The dog's father was owned by Frank Ansell of the fire department, and this animal was poisoned in the same way two years ago.

MORE GOOD WORK DONE BY POLICE DEPARTMENT

Idaho Officer Arrives to Take Alleged Criminals Back to Gem State.

Frank M. Powell, chief of detectives at Boise, Idaho, arrived in this city Monday afternoon for the purpose of taking back to Boise A. J. Comer and J. T. Young, wanted at that place on the charge of flooding the country with worthless checks and also for obtaining goods under false pretenses, the requisition papers having been honored by Governor Snyder on Monday morning. Chief of Detectives Powell will leave with both men on Tuesday night. During their crimes, the Idaho officer said:

I consider Young as the most dangerous of the two men when it comes to getting money for worthless checks. He has a winning personality and passed a great number of the checks in Idaho Falls, Boise and over smaller towns in the state. I am told, and also did some of his work in Dillon, Mont. Comer is only a young rascal that I don't believe he has been at the business very long. We are sure that we have good cases against both men.

Speaking of the arrest of the men in this city Chief of Police Barlow said: We picked up Comer with comparative ease on Tuesday last, but we were not so fortunate in discovering the whereabouts of Young. There is an odd story connected with his arrest, however, which is the clue to his whereabouts in this city. Just after I had received the telegram from Boise, I picked up a letter directed to this department from Mrs. Edna Young who was said to be his wife, stating that she had read in a paper that a man named Young was in March 1910 that a man named Young was under arrest here, and enclosed a stamped addressed envelope for a reply.

Her letter was written from Idaho Falls and was dated March 22. As soon as I had finished reading her note I had another stare from the Idaho authorities that had boarded the train for Salt Lake City and would in all probability go to the Idaho authorities. He had been arrested here on a similar charge to those for which he is wanted, but had squared his accounts by sending his wife a letter from Idaho Falls and had been released before we knew that he was wanted at Idaho Falls. As soon as his wife arrived here, he phoned her and finally Detective Earl Ripley picked up Young as he was about to meet her. "Comer," Young was known as "Red" at Idaho Falls as Mrs. Jack Carter. Comer told the authorities at the police station that his home is in Lehi and that he has a number of well-to-do relatives at that place.

TO SALT LAKE MERCHANTS

During the first week in April there will be gathered in this city thousands of conference visitors from all parts of Utah and from many communities in surrounding States.

In their homes, those people do not see The Tribune, being afraid of the hostility of their priestly autocrats if they take it. When these people come to Salt Lake, their great longing is to see and read The Salt Lake Tribune. They know that it tells the truth, while their church papers mislead them. They read all that we print.

To advertise in The Tribune is to catch the eye and the trade of this great mass of conference visitors. Therefore, the part of business wisdom is to put your trade propositions in The Tribune before and during the conference week.

FREE SITE OFFERED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Young & Young Tender Eight Acres on East Bench for One Dollar.

WILL ALSO GIVE MONEY FOR PREPARING GROUND

Another Location at Sixth East and Seventh South Is Proffered.

Two more sites for the new east side high school were offered to the board of education on Monday, one of which was for the consideration of one dollar. In addition to donating the site, Young & Young, who submitted the offer, state that they can probably donate the sum of $5000 for preparing the grounds, upon the condition that the school is located there. The site is near Ninth South and Thirteenth East streets and contains eight and a half acres. It has a good elevation and the ground is said to be level and appropriate for school purposes.

This is the first offer of a free site yet received by the board. The other site offered was from the same firm and consists of a tract 20 by 20 rods in dimensions, and located on Seventh South and Sixth East streets about one and a half blocks from the main entrance to Liberty park. This tract can be obtained for $35,000. Both of these will be considered by the board before final action is taken in the selection of a site.

Just when the board will finally consider the matter has not yet been determined, as President Hammond is of the opinion that there is no hurry about it, and by waiting something better may be offered.

PROTEST CLASSIFIED "DAMNABLE INSULT"

Mulvey Uses Strong Words Against Attorney's Objection to License Body's Methods.

ANNEXATION PROPOSITION LAID OVER FOR A WEEK

Ninth East Street Residents Want Steel Trolley Poles; Other Matters.

When the protest of City Attorney Dinny against the method of the license committee in passing upon license applications was read in the city council meeting Monday evening, Mr. Mulvey, a member of the license committee, classed it as a "damnable insult."

The protest came up just before the report of the license committee recommending the granting of about 150 applications, was reached.

Mr. Dinny said that the law requires that all applications for liquor licenses be filed with the city council and then referred to the chief of police, who shall report back to the council within five days, the council then to refer the applications to a committee for further consideration. Under the present system the application is filed with the license assessor and then referred to the chief of police, who makes his report to the license committee of the council, and the committee then reports to the council whether the license should be granted.

No Chance to Protest.

The attorney said that frequently the license was reported on by the committee, moved then in the vicinity of the proposed saloon known that the application was referred to the license assessor and then referred to the chief of police, who makes his report to the license committee of the council, and the committee then reports to the council whether the license should be granted.

When the license committee's report was reached, Mr. Moreton, chairman of the committee, moved that the applications be started on the course indicated by the city attorney as being regular. The committee then moved that the same course be followed for two years and the committee simply followed the old custom.

Mr. Mulvey again classed the city attorney's protest as the "most damnable insult" he had ever heard read in the council.

Mr. Holley's substitute that the applications be granted for the beginning three months, and in the interim the licenses be checked upon for the next three months. The same course was pursued as to wholesale and druggist liquor licenses.

The annexation of the territory between the Twentieth and Seventeenth East streets and Tenth and Eleventh South streets was laid over for a week, with instructions to the persons to file a new annexation petition and insure the bringing of the streets to the proper grade.

Want Steel Poles.

A protest was received from J. W. Simons and about 200 others against permitting the Utah Light & Railway company to place wooden poles on Ninth South street, and of Howard street, and along the street want steel poles. The matter was referred to the streets and engineering and sewerage committees for hearing Tuesday night.

The matter of a public market again was brought up in a petition signed by J. H. Barlow, Jr., and several hundred others, asking for a public market, that such a market be provided. The petition was referred to the sanitary and markets committee.
